How do I link PCHS Library to Google Scholar?

You can now link the CHS Library to Google Scholar by changing the Library Links setting in Google Scholar. This allows you to access the CHS Library's subscriptions when searching Google Scholar.

1. Go to Google Scholar https://scholar.google.com

2. In the upper left side of your screen, click on the three lines

3. Click the Settings link or gear icon. Depending on your screen size, this may be at the top or the bottom of that section

4. In the left column, click on Library Links.

5. In the search box, type Pacific College of Health and Science and click the blue Search button. An option for Pacific College of Health PCHS will appear below the search box. Click in the box next to it.
Note: If you see the box for Open WorldCat - Library Search box, check that too. This will allow it to link to free available content.

6. Click Save. This setting will be remembered until you clear your browser cookies. Now when you search Google Scholar, you will be directed to the PCHS links to full text

?(Campus Activated Subscriber Access) is an authentication enhancement that improves the authentication for off-campus users of Google Scholar.

When a user is on-campus, and they connect to the college network, permission is granted to access the subscriptions. If they visit Google Scholar whilst on campus (IP authentication) or via a proxy server (off campus), Google automatically creates an affiliation between that user and their institution. Non-campus users, who are coming from a known IP address range, will need to self-select their library within Google Scholar. Users can self-select by performing the above steps

Please note access to the full text will only be granted if an existing cookie is still valid, for use, or the user is able to sign in to the full-text using off-campus authentication such as proxy access or OpenAthens.

For questions, contact your campus librarian

San Diego Dbenefiel@pacificcollege.edu
Chicago dharper@pacificcollege.edu
New York rfereres@pacificcollege.edu